

George MacDonald's Scotland 2017

Wednesday 19th to Friday 21st July
The University of Aberdeen
The Sir Duncan Rice Library

Keynote speakers: Dr David Robb (University of Dundee), Dr Dimitra Fimi (Cardiff Metropolitan University) Dr John Pazdziora (Shantou University) and Dr Colin Manlove (University of Edinburgh).

This event draws together an international community of George MacDonald scholars to discuss his Scottish heritage as an overlooked aspect of MacDonald scholarship. In this context, it will refocus attention to the unique resources available within the North East of Scotland. In conjunction with University of Aberdeen's Special Collections, attendees will be able to explore through workshops and exhibitions, a selection of MacDonald's manuscripts and letters. There will be an opportunity for delegates to visit the town of Huntly and see further resources and items held in the town's Brander Library that are not usually available to the general public.

Registration is now open for members of the academic community and the general public with tickets costing £10 a day or £30 for all three days. Visit www.gmdscotland.wordpress.com for further details.
